Result Analysis – November 2018

Prof. S. Neeta presented the result analysis for November 2018 semester examination. She highlighted that the academic performance of PG students was consistently good over the semesters, but the poor performance of I PG in comparison with II PG is an area of concern. The academic performance of UG students is improving over the years. But the overall passpercentage of the UG students is not impressive and after a long deliberation it was unanimously decided to implement student centric strategies to improve the overall results of UG students.

Curriculum restructuring

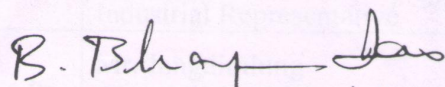

Dr. ElangoParimalam presented the modified syllabus for the following four papers for ratification:

1. Data Analytics for Economists – PG
2. Environmental Economics – PG
3. Research Methods in Economics – UG
4. Indian Economic Planning and Policy – UG

The ratified syllabus was discussed in length and after deliberations and incorporating the suggestions from the Board of Studies members, the syllabus was passed. The same has been attached herewith.

Prof. B.Bhagwan Das introduced the new proposed template for UG as given by the Office of the Academic Deans and requested the Board of Studies members to propose Major/Allied/Elective papers to be offered during the various semesters. He also emphasized the need for passing the papers proposed for semesters I and II immediately in order to implement the same from the academic year 2019-20. However the members can propose papers to be offered during other semesters in this Board of Studies, while the proposed syllabus for those papers other than semesters I and II can be discussed and passed during the next Board of Studies meeting.

The restructured curriculum was discussed and the template was passed by the Board of Studies members and the same is attached herewith.
